RECUR | Ai2000

What we see in Ai2000

01

WHY WE'RE HERE

Apparel brands are moving off legacy ERPs

Many still run product, orders and books in separate systems

02

WHY WE'RE EXCITED

Ai2000 has the depth larger brands need

Retail EDI, warehouse and financials sit in one platform, so it sticks

03

HOW WE CAN HELP

Help Ai2000 grow with outbound sales and AI

We add an outbound engine and build AI into daily workflows

Recur Software Highly Confidential – Not for Distribution

The opportunity for Ai2000

Apparel and home goods brands want one system for product, retail orders and books

OUR TAKE

Ai2000 runs product, retail orders and financials for large brands in one system

Small-brand tools lack the depth big retail programs need

Ops-only suites push the books into a second system

We acquire mission-critical vertical software businesses

01 An enduring home

We buy and hold forever, with no fund clock and no exit plan

02 Software native

Decades of experience building and backing software

03 Growth first

Go-to-market, product and AI expertise to grow your business

"As a first-time seller, I had no idea what to expect from an acquisition process. Recur walked us through every step, explained what was coming next, and made what could have been overwhelming feel completely manageable."

Mark T. – Founder of Statii

"Working with the Recur team was refreshingly straightforward. They said we'd close in what seemed like a tight timeline, and we did. No surprises, no moving goalposts – exactly what they promised from start to finish."

Brian B. – Founder of Innova Zones

"They have a deep understanding of how to grow industry-specific software products without losing what makes them special. Their AI-driven approach and operational depth stood out to us from day one and we're excited for their support."

Joe B. – CEO of Cognidox
